

ANIMALS – podcast 2

- Lucile: WOW, I've never been to a zoo located right in the middle of town and it's even on a hill. This is exciting.
- Peter: Yeah, it's pretty cool because we start from the top and walk all the way down, seeing the animals as we go.
- Lucile: Let's go over there first. I can see deer, gazelle, goats, and moose. And look over there to the right: bison!
- Peter: You know, one time I was taking a picture with bison in the background and one of them was actually eating my jacket!
- Lucile: That doesn't sound like fun. Actually it sounds a bit scary. That's why I don't like getting too close to the animals. Do they have a white tiger here?
- Peter: Hmm, I don't think so; the Buin Zoo is the one with the white tiger. But here they have a lot of the typical zoo animals: rhinoceros, wolves, elephants, polar bears, chimpanzees, bears, zebras, warthogs, giraffes, and hippopotamus.
- Lucile: What about reptiles?
- Peter: Down in the middle there is a special section with snakes, iguanas, chameleons, lizards, crocodiles, turtles, and alligators. Do you like reptiles?
- Lucile: I like them, but my favorite animals are the large cats. There are so many different types: cougars, cheetahs, bobcats, jaguars, leopards, lions, lynx, and tigers.
- Peter: I think they look rather frightening; I prefer my kitten at home.
- Lucile: Ha, ha! OK then, let's go to your place and play with your kitten. I've seen enough big animals for one day.
